PREMIUM KNIFE BRANDS

When Global Knives were introduced, they were truly innovative and different - a series of kitchen knives which brought the art of Japanese knife making to Western consumers and chefs. By using the best available manufacturing methods and machinery with the latest stainless steel materials Global's reputation upholds nearly 40 years later.

Tamahagane Knives are made by the Kataoka factory in Niigata Japan. Choose from 3 of their knife ranges, Bamboo, San and San Tsubame. All three ranges use the same 3 ply material known only to Kataoka. Blocks and sets to compliment the individual knives are also available.

Kasumi Knives are produced by the Sumikama Cutlery factory in Seki Japan. Sumikama specializes in producing knives from the most advanced materials, with the most advanced manufacturing techniques and produces knives to a very high standard.

ROCKINGHAM FORGE

Rockingham Forge takes history of Sheffield knife making and incorporates the materials and manufacturing techniques into modern designs. Rockingham Forge extends from premium knives to every day kitchen essentials, plus knife accessories and cutting boards.

CAFÉ STÅL

Practical and elegant, the Café Stål range is made from premium 18/10 stainless steel with a unique, sophisticated style. This collection will allow you to serve your coffee with style. Long lasting coupled with a contemporary finish, let Café Stål serve your coffee at its best.

Vektra, the world's first thermal insulated electric kettle. Constructed with stainless steel double-wall insulation that with just one boil your water will stay hot for up to four hours which means less boiling, less energy, less hassle.

PIONEER

Tried and tested vacuumware that matches up to any product. Whether you're keeping warm when facing the elements, staying hydrated throughout a long day or in need of office refreshments, Pioneer has the products to keep you going.

Katana Saya is the universal knife brand of our times, encompassing the very best of our different cultures and traditions. The blades of our knives are crafted from Japanese VG-10 Damascus Steel. We present the traditional Japanese style knives with traditional Wooden Saya, to match the knife handles.

The Tojiro moto is "Ichigo Ichie", meaning once in a lifetime. Tojiro manufacturers knives whilst thinking always about the user. Tojiro believes that the use of the knife should enrich the user's life each time that gives the feeling of a once in a lifetime use.

Bunmei was the first brand of knives manufactured and released by the Yoshikin factory, better known for producing the Global knife brand. Bunmei knives are traditional Japanese knives, reflecting over 150 years of Japanese cuisine.

Masahiro's edge is its most important feature. The edge is 80/20 asymmetrical, rather than equally on both sides. The idea being that the asymmetrical edge is 35% thinner than a 50/50 edge. This fact makes Masahiro's knives sharper than other Japanese knife brands.

Welcome to the family...

Forged in Sheffield, the heart of the British steel industry, Grunwerg was established in 1945 by Otto Grunwerg, a refugee from war torn Vienna.

During the years that followed, Otto kept his eyes firmly on the future and grew the business to become a successful manufacturer of knives and cutlery. With a strong team of local designers and craftsmen, Grunwerg products were manufactured in the UK until the 1970s.

These days, we are still a family-run business, with Otto's grandson Benjamin at the helm. The business and design team remain in the Sheffield area, with manufacturing undertaken by trusted overseas partners.

We offer understated stylish pieces that should be enjoyed in the company of good food and great friends. Serving the hospitality sector, Grunwerg products are integral to the exacting detail of the dining experience.

Whether it be the perfectly weighted touch or the sleek clean lines complimenting each place setting, timeless elegance and effortless style is guaranteed.

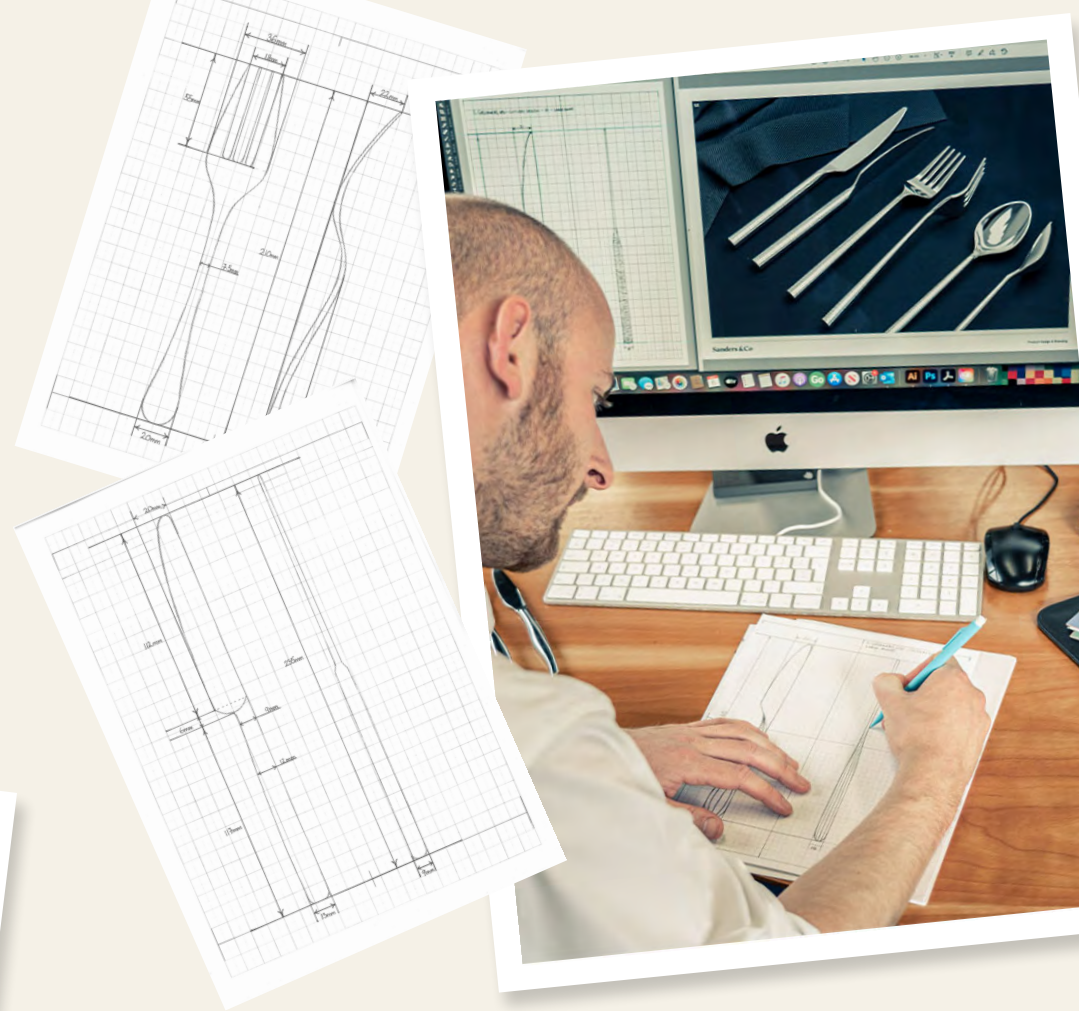

Otto Grunwerg

Grunwerg is a family business. Although generations of Grunwergs have been at the helm of the business, our family culture extends to all our team members – many of whom have been with the business for over twenty years and have introduced their own family members to the Grunwerg team.

FORGED IN SHEFFIELD

Grunweg has an emphasis on environmentally friendly products. Our products are made to the highest of standards and designed to last a lifetime, providing quality and value. Our latest products are made with plastic free packaging that is fully recyclable. New product development has an emphasis on quality and sustainability. Car charging points and state of the art facilities allow us to run an efficient and clean warehouse.

BRITISH DESIGN & CRAFTSMANSHIP

Grunweg has a strong tradition of British design and craftsmanship. Our products were manufactured in the UK until the late 1970's. These days our business focuses on designing products according to the latest trends and styles.

CUTLERY

I. Grunwerg Ltd. specialise in both stamped and forged cutlery patterns. We also offer both 18/10 and 18/0 Stainless Steel varieties. Read below for details on the differences.

Continuing in our endeavours for sustainability, all of our cutlery is packaged as environmentally friendly as possible. All loose dozens are packaged in paper or recycled plastic and we have greatly reduced use of excess packaging.

Stamped A stamped piece of cutlery begins as a ribbon of steel, which is then punched, or cut out, into shape. They are then tempered, sharpened and finished. This process is generally handled by machines. Whilst traditionally stamped cutlery was of a lower quality, and indeed stamped cutlery is often thinner and lighter than forged cutlery, it is not always the case as improvements are always being made in the world of technology.

Forged Forging is one of the oldest methods of constructing using hand craftsmanship to produce a strong piece of cutlery. Forged cutlery is produced when a steel bar is heated up to a very high temperature, set into a die and hammered to form the blade. It is then tempered, sharpened and finished.

18/10 vs 18/0 18/10 cutlery contains 18% Chromium and 10% Nickel percentages. 18/0 cutlery contains the same level of Chromium, but without the Nickel. Nickel adds rust resistance, durability and a high-shine finish.

Gauge & Length The gauge of our cutlery ranges (the thickness) can be found underneath the title of the range. You can also find the lengths for our table knives, table forks, teaspoons and dessert spoons next to their product code and description.

ECONOMY & PARISH COLLECTIONS

Our introductory collections provide a balance of robust, durable build quality and remarkable value. Many of the collections are perfectly suited for the hospitality setting, due to the expansive ranges that are offered. The patterns available are cutlery classics, befitting of any place setting. All ranges are of full UK size and available in dozens.

Greenworks

At Grunwerg, we care about the environment. We are aware of the impact the manufacturing and distribution of our products have on the world we live in. As a company we are very much committed to do what we can where we can to reduce the impact we have on the environment.

'Greenworks' embody our commitment to creating environmentally friendly products. Using recycled plastic "rPET" plastic as opposed to virgin plastics helps create a demand for recycled plastic, giving an incentive for the collection and re-use of plastic items through recycling. This helps keep our seas and environment free from plastic waste.

Complete with plastic free packaging, Greenworks by Grunwerg provides the sustainable option for your dining experience!"

CAST ALUMINUM COOKWARE

Traditional cast iron cookware is long lasting but also expensive, heavy and prone to chipping. The Commichef Die-Cast Aluminium range from Grunwerg solves these issues as well as improving upon cooking times, all whilst retaining the same attractive styling. This is due to the conductivity of aluminium being around 6 times better than that of iron or steel, meaning this cookware heats up quicker as well as diffusing the heat more efficiently. The PFLUON non-stock lining also means this cookware is super easy to clean and reduces the need for oils or fats making for healthier cooking all round.

ROCKINGHAM FORGE EQUILIBRIUM

'Equilibrium' is defined as a 'state in which opposing forces or influences are perfectly balanced' and this is what we seek to achieve with these knives. Our handles are made from POM material in a curved design, which provides a perfect and comfortable grip, weighted by the through-tang steel construction. Our blades are made from German high quality chromium-molybdenum-vanadium steel, which is ice-hardened for lasting sharpness and rust resistance. But the highlight is the perfect balance of these knives, which sit comfortably in the hand encouraging a professional 'rocking' cutting action.

- Premium ice-hardened & rust resistant German steel blades
- Smooth comfortable and stylish black POM handles
- As the name suggests, these knives are equally balanced for a smooth cutting action

SHARPENING

WHETSTONES

The most traditional and most revered style of sharpening. Amongst purists this is the true way of sharpening a knife, credited to the skill and experience required. In addition to skill, the correct tools are just as important. Grunberg have a wide selection of whetstones, in a variety of grits that provide everything you need from re-sharpening blunt knives to honing a clean, sharp edge on a regular basis. We supply Chef's with both whetstones and accessories from a wide range of trusted brands.

SHARPENING STEELS

Likely the most familiar way of keeping your kitchen knives sharp. Whilst it may seem straightforward there are more considerations to be made when purchasing a sharpening steel. We supply sharpening rods in a variety of materials that each suit different requirements or preferences. Traditional Steel rods are great for regular maintenance, whereas ceramic or diamond can be good for re-sharpening. Whatever your requirement, we have the tool.

PULL - THROUGH SHARPENERS

Without question, the easiest and quickest way to keep your knives sharp. The pull-through range of sharpeners require no skill or experience to keep your blades sharp - just a small amount of knowledge. Our wide range of pull-through sharpeners come in a selection of coarseness for either re-sharpening or regular maintenance. Furthermore, we have a range of sizes that will equally suit the professional kitchen as they will the home cook.

ROCKINGHAM FORGE

'SUPERSHARP' WHETSTONES

Rockingham Forge's quality extends beyond knives to knife maintenance. The 'Supersharps' range of whetstones are perfect for keeping your knives in prime condition. Available in selection of grits from coarse to superfine. All stones include a rubber non-slip base.

PRO WHETSTONES are both wider and thicker. This is for improved longevity for those sharpening on a regular basis.

COMBINATION WHETSTONES

Combination whetstones are perfect for a chef who may be travelling regularly. By combining two different grits of stone, the combination allows to both re-sharpen and hone a supremely sharp edge without carrying multiple stones.

Like the single grit stone, the Rockingham Forge Supersharps range is available in either normal size, or the larger 'Pro' size. These are ideal for a kitchen where sharpening is regular and may wear down quicker. PRO WHETSTONES are both wider and thicker. This is for improved longevity for those sharpening regularly

We supply sharpening rods in a variety of materials that each suit different requirements or preferences. Traditional Steel rods are great for regular maintenance, whereas ceramic or diamond can be good for re-sharpening. Whatever your requirement, we have the tool.

DIAMOND

The hardest of our collection, this makes it the most abrasive. Great for a re-sharpen of even the hardest of steel blades

CERAMIC

Harder than steel, but with a lower abrasion. Still capable of putting an edge back on a blunt blade, but also capable of honing with precision.

CORUNDUM

Has similar properties to that of the ceramic sharpener.

STEEL

The most common choice of sharpening rod and probably the most versatile. Great for regular daily maintenance and keeping your knives edge in optimum condition.

End Grain is the grain of wood cut across the growth rings. Rather than cutting the length of the trunk the wood is cut at a 90 degree angle, therefore exposing the character of the wood rings and graining. End Grain fibres absorb the impact of the knife blade, making the boards kinder to knives but also preserve the look of the boards.

GLOBAL®

Global Knives were introduced to the market by Komin Yamada, a legendary Japanese product designer. He was given a brief to create a range of knives that were truly innovative and different, using the best available manufacturing methods and machinery with the latest stainless steel materials. He created a series of kitchen knives which brought the art of Japanese knife making to Western consumers and chefs. Global Knives use their proprietary steel, Cromova18 in all their knives, a high carbon steel with a molybdenum and vanadium mix achieving a hardness rating of 56-58 HRC. This offers knives that are able to hold a edge for a long time whilst being easy to sharpen. Global uniquely uses convex edges on their blade. These edges wear much more slowly than flat grinds and is the real reason why Global knives stay sharp for an exceptionally long time.

GLOBAL CLASSIC G SERIES

The Global G series of knives are Global 's classic collection of larger, longer bladed knives with weighted hollow handles. Forged from Global's famous Cromova18 blades they are sharpened to a 15 degree angle. The range includes the award winning G-2, which has been featured in numerous publications and won many awards. Within the G range you will also find; vegetable choppers, Santoku, filleting, bread and slicing knives. There is a knife literally for any and every purpose. Many of these knives have multiple size options available and fluted varieties.

GLOBAL CLASSIC GF SERIES

The GF Range is Global's collection of drop forged knives. The handle sits on the tang of the blade creating a knife which is heavier and more durable than its G and GS counterparts. There is no weld joint between the handle and the blade, the knife is one piece of steel from tip to tip. Given that the knives are substantially stronger than the G series of knives, they make excellent knives for professional chefs. As with all Global knives, the GF series use Cromova18 steel and have the same quality of edge from the factory.

CHOPPING BOARDS

END GRAIN

Rather than cutting the length of the trunk the wood is cut at a 90 degree angle, exposing the end grain. The cut exposes the character of the wood rings and graining. End Grain fibres absorb the impact of the knife blade, making the boards kinder to knives but also preserve the look of the boards. Made of high quality end grain Acacia, this board will look stunning in any kitchen. Acacia is quite hard and naturally antibacterial, so will retain a good look over time. These boards are finished with 2 stainless steel handles to easily carry around.

ACACIA WOOD

Acacia is a highly durable and water-resistant hardwood that's also resistant to scratching and warping. Its natural grain lends your kitchen countertop or table a warm, rich look. These boards have 18/10 stainless steel moulded handle side panels with the distinctive Global branding of black dots. The craftsmanship is fully guaranteed manufacturing against defects

ELEMENTS

In Japanese philosophy, the Godai encompass the five elements of Buddhist thought, constituting the essence of all creation. We've artfully captured four prominent Japanese elements in the crafting of our exclusive Global Knife Block Sets: Air (Kaze), Fire (Hi), Water (Mizu), and Earth (Tsuchi), each embodying the spirit of these elements.

The profound philosophy represented by the Godai elements finds its connection with multiple facets of Japanese knife craftsmanship. This connection is evident in the careful selection of materials and the meticulous attention given to achieving the perfect balance and precision in crafting each knife. Moreover, the Japanese culture's deep appreciation for equilibrium, versatility, and spiritual resonance is beautifully exemplified in the way these knives are both employed and cherished within the rich tapestry of Japanese culinary tradition.

FIRE 火 HI

The Japanese fire element symbolizes life, passion, desire, and energy, crucial in cooking and reflecting inner emotions. Our Hi block set gracefully cradles your Global knives, mirroring the coke used in knife forges. Fire in cuisine is embodied by meat. Our set includes the G-4 and GS-101 knives, blending tradition and precision.

GLOBAL® UKON 右近

CROMOVA 18 Stainless Steel

The name 'UKON' has many positive connotations in Japanese legend. Our favourite use of the word lies in the expression 'Tachibana No Ukon' referring to the Mandarin Tree that was symbolically planted on the right-hand side of the Imperial Palace in Kyoto. It was said to balance the Cherry Blossom Tree on the left-hand side, known as the 'Sakura No Sakon'. Together they replaced the Samurai Guards who had until then protected the Emperor, but who were deemed no longer necessary during times of peace.

In true GLOBAL tradition, the knife is constructed from the best Stainless Steel material and the UKON series features thicker blades to enhance performance. UKON knives are subject to even more precise grinding and finishing work, making them 10 percent sharper out of the box. The knives are designed with an ambidextrous thumb rest that sits closer to the blade for added control and efficiency. The underside of the handle features GLOBAL's trademark indentations, making UKON knives extremely comfortable to hold.

BUNMEI

文明銀丁®

Bunmei was the first brand of knives manufactured and released by the Yoshikin factory, better known for producing the Global knife brand. Bunmei knives are traditional Japanese knives, reflecting over 150 years of Japanese cuisine. All Bunmei knives have a traditional Japanese single bevel and are made with Cromova18 steel ensuring good edge retention.

15° Double Bevelled Edge

Western Style Blades

Distinguished from the traditional Japanese-style single-sided Bunmei range, this knife collection showcases a double bevel design that makes them perfectly suited for Western cooking techniques. It is expertly crafted with a bamboo handle that provides exceptional slip resistance, ensuring a secure grip during use. Unlike a single bevel knife that pushes the food away from just one side, a double bevel knife pushes the food away from both sides while slicing. This type of knife is ideal for cutting delicate fish, seafood, meat, and vegetables, thanks to its finely sharpened edge achieved at an angle of 15 degrees.

Japanese Style Blades

Bunmei knives are the favourite of many Japanese cooks. They are made in the traditional Japanese style, and have a typical Japanese look and feel. Made with a slip-resistant bamboo handle and traditional one-sided blade grinding for a razor-sharp edge to enhance food freshness. Ideal for raw fish or meat, these Bunmei knives are perfect for any style of Sushi or Sashimi cooking. Made by Yoshikin, the manufacturer of Global knives, these Bunmei knives use the very latest production methods and high tech molybdenum / vanadium stainless steel in their construction.

Pro Balance Knives are revolutionary in concept and design, fully customisable to suit the preference of the individual chef! Find the whole Pro Balance range below along with selected knife block sets.

All Pro Balance Knives feature a hollow handle which can be opened to customise the weight by adding or removing small weights. If you like the sharpness of a true Japanese knife, but hate the weight of most Japanese knives, simply add in the included weights into the handle. The knife itself is no gimmick though.

The blade undergoes sub-zero treatment during the tempering stage to create an incredibly strong blade (made from German 1.4116 steel), hand sharpened to rival any Japanese brand. The knives slice through food effortlessly and all come with a special coloured end cap so you can tell which knife is which in the block.

MBS-26 HIGH CARBON
STAINLESS STEEL
MADE IN JAPAN

MASAHIRO

Masahiro knives are made from one layer of MBS-26 high carbon stainless steel, similar to VG-10. The MBS-26 stainless steel is treated by three stages of tempering and quenching in sub zero temperatures to reach a hardness of 58-60 HRC. This makes the knife slightly softer than VG-10 models, but the knife ultimately has a lot more flexibility. Masahiro's edge is its most important feature. The edge is 80/20 asymmetrical, rather than sharpened equally on both sides. The idea being that the asymmetrical edge is 35% thinner than a 50/50 edge. This fact makes Masahiro's knives sharper than other Japanese knife brands. The handle is made from a moisture resistant resin, which also has anti-bacterial properties. With a full tang, the handle is riveted and smooth.

KASUMI

Kasumi Knives are produced by the Sumikama Cutlery factory in Seki Japan. Sumikama specializes in producing knives from the most superior materials, with the most advanced manufacturing techniques and produces knives to a very high standard.

Sumikama was the first large Japanese knife manufacturer to use folded Damascus steel wrapped around a VG-10 core which has been replicated by many other manufacturers. Kasumi knives are typically very hard, more than 60 on the Rockwell scale. Sumikama specialises in using VG-10 stainless steel, a steel mix containing molybdenum, chromium, vanadium and cobalt. This highly sought after steel is one of the best stainless steels used in knife making. Sumikama knives are typically finished with a 15 degree bevelled edge.

KASUMI

Kasumi's original series of knives, made from 32 layers of Damascus steel with a middle layer ultra hard VG-10 stainless steel. Beautiful knives to own and use, Kasumi's Damascus range features a natural pakkawood handle and an ultra sharp 15 degree bevelled edge hardened to 60 Rockwell.

KASUMI® VG-10 PRO VG-10 SOLID SUPER STAINLESS STEEL-HIGH CARBON MADE IN SEKI-JAPAN

The blade is made from one layer of pure VG-10 material making the knives light and flexible. Round comfortable handles made from POM resin and razor sharp Kasumi edges make these knives a joy to use.

KASUMI® H.M.

Kasumi's second series, featuring 3 ply steel blades with a core of ultra hard VG-10 stainless steel. The outer layers are made from 18/10 stainless steel and given a hammered tsuchime effect on the blade, which is sharpened to Kasumi's standard 15 degree bevelled edge.

KASUMI® Titanium Molybdenum Vanadium Steel Titanium Coating Made in Seki-Japan

Kasumi knives with a single layer of VG-10 are coated in a titanium finish that makes the knives inert. Such knives are useful in specialist kitchens where the inert properties of the blade are useful in not transferring tastes between different ingredients.

Kasumi Knives are produced by the Sumikama Cutlery factory in Seki Japan. Sumikama specializes in producing knives from the most advanced materials, with the most advanced manufacturing techniques. The Kasumi Damascus series is made from 32 layers of Damascus steel with a middle layer ultra hard steel. Only the middle layer acts as the cutting edge and it is made from VG-10, a high carbon steel for durability and ease of sharpening. The knife is bevelled with a 15 degree angle, creating an extremely sharp edge that measures up with the best Japanese knives. The knife is finished off with perfectly fitting, laminated wooden handles which rest on the tang of the knife. These are medium weight, with very hard blades.

KASUMI® VG-10 PRO

VG-10 SOLID SUPER STAINLESS STEEL-HIGH CARBON
MADE IN SEKI-JAPAN

Kasumi Knives are produced by the Sumikama Cutlery factory in Seki Japan. Sumikama specializes in producing knives from the most advanced materials, with the most advanced manufacturing techniques. The Kasumi VG-10 PRO series is the latest addition to the Kasumi range. Kasumi VG-10 Pro Series Knives are forged from one single piece of super high carbon VG-10 (HRC 60-61) stainless steel, meaning that these knives stay sharp longer than most other Japanese knives. These knives are produced to an extremely high degree of hardness, to give a very sharp and durable edge. The knives are finished off with a resin marble effect handle.

The Kasumi HM Hammered series of knives have a hammer pattern on both sides of the blade is the result of hot forging by 300 tons of a flexion machine which makes the steel stronger and hammer design shiny. The uneven hammer design prevents food from sticking to the blade. These Kasumi knives all feature try ply blades with an inner core of VG-10 steel sandwiched between two layers of 410 (18/10) stainless steel. the blades are ultra sharp and feature the same quality of cutting edge as the other Kasumi knife ranges with the blades hardened to 60 HRC. The handles are made with a POM resin that is really comfortable and feels totally smooth in the hand. Hygenic and long-lasting, these knives are made to the highest standards in Seki Japan.

KASUMI® Titanium

Molybdenum Vanadium Steel
Titanium Coating Made in Seki-Japan

Kasumi Titanium Knives are made using typical High Carbon VG-10 stainless steel, but the blades are coated with titanium to give the blades super resistance to chemical and acid abrasion. The coating also makes the knives inert, so prevent food from picking up a metallic taste. The knives are very sharp and feel very light. We recommend these knives as an alternative to ceramic blades where the quality of the knife-edge is still important, but you also require the inertness of a ceramic blade. Choose from 3 different colour coatings, blue, gold and grey.

Titan

The blades on Silver and Diamond Titan knives are made by undergoing a process called sintering, a process where different materials fuse together under extremely high heat. The blades of Titan knives contain ceramic, titanium and silver. The intention is to fuse the benefits of a ceramic knife with a steel blade.

The Silver gives the knife antibacterial properties, which make the knives very hygienic. The Ceramic gives the blade inert properties, meaning it will not add to the taste of the food. The Titanium gives the knife its metallic properties and allows the knife to be sharpened with a good edge. The Diamond Titan knives also have powdered diamond in the blades to provide a longer lasting edge. These knives feel very light and easy to use and are practical for a range of kitchen tasks.

Katana Saya

Katana Saya is the universal knife brand of our times, encompassing the very best of our different cultures and traditions. The Katana was the prized sword of the Samurai with its extra sharp blade fashioned from folded Damascus Steel. The blades of our knives are similarly crafted from Japanese VG-10 Damascus Steel. The Katana was always protected inside a Sheath, or Saya. We believe our knives are equally precious, and deserve the same level of protection.

But here we give you a choice! For Japanese traditionalists, we present the traditional Japanese style knives with Wooden Saya to match the knife handles. For those who prefer a more Westernised blade, we have adapted the series to represent all the popular Western-style knives and provided a real leather sheath for a modern, practical storage solution.

The handles of our Katana Saya knives offer customers an incredible choice as we have a knife style to suit all tastes and kitchen décor. These attractive kitchen knives feature a variety of handle designs inspired by the natural world. Created using unique woods and resins, the beautiful handles are crafted in the traditional chestnut shape to give a safe grip and perfect balance.

So... Old, New, East, West, you choose whatever's best!

VG-10 Damascus Steel

67 Layers of the highest quality steel with a high carbon content brings an exceptional toughness. VG-10 blends the durability of carbon steel with the corrosion resistance of Stainless Steel. VG-10 steel is one of the most premium steels in Japanese culinary products. This high-quality VG-10 stainless steel is hard and unbreakable and can reach a Rockwell hardness rating of up to 63HRC. Furthermore, VG-10 steel delivers one of the best edge retentions in the market. The exquisite craftsmanship in these knives can be seen in the elegant layered pattern in the blades.

Our individual knives are supplied with either a traditional wooden saya (inspired by the saya that pairs the samurai's Katana) or an elegant leather sheath. Both not only add a touch of luxury but also add a layer of protection for your knife and yourself.

Each individual knife or knife set in the Katana Saya range is presented in an elegant wooden case, offering an added touch of luxury to these already exquisite knives. Perfect for saving these unique knives for special occasions or as a gift for those in our life who love to cook.

Katana Saya ELEMENTS

Katana Saya Elements combines the beauty of nature with the unparalleled cutting ability of VG-10 Damascus Steel blades. These kitchen knives offer not just superb cutting performance but add colour and vibrancy to your kitchen. Each handle is unique and consists of a blend of olive wood fused with vibrant translucent resins. Our inspiration for this stems from ancient wisdom of the elements that coalesce to make up our earth. These are typically considered to be Fire, Water, Earth and Air and thus we created our Volcanic, Ocean and Rainforest ranges.

OCEAN WATER - MIZU

The might and magnificence of the ocean is the source of inspiration behind the Katana Elements Ocean collection. The flowing blue resin evokes the might of lapping waves depicted in traditional woodcuts. In Japanese culture, blue is considered lucky but also symbolic of calm and purity. Contrasting harmoniously to the mighty ocean.

VOLCANIC FIRE - HI

Fire is truly one of the most formidable of elements. The magnitude of the earth's fiery underbelly is where the Katana Elements Volcanic range finds its inspiration. Furthermore, Red in Japanese culture is symbolic of both Peace and Prosperity, casting a delicate balance between these two contrasting forces.

RAINFOREST EARTH - TSUCHI

The Rainforest is both mysterious yet full of life, a vast expanse of wonder. That is where the Katana Elements Rainforest range evokes its discreet and ambient aesthetic. The olive wood fused with the deep green resin brings a homely feel that beholds a mysterious beauty. Green symbolizes both life and growth. A perfect attribute for your kitchen knives.

FLAME

Revel in the elegance of Rainbow Damascus Steel

Indulge in the beauty and mastery of rainbow Damascus steel—a fusion of art and utility that elevates your culinary journey to new heights. A masterpiece from Katana Saya. Building upon our expertise in making traditional VG-10 Damascus steel blades, 'Flame' embodies a new level of quality and opulence. Rainbow Damascus steel is a captivating variation of traditional Damascus steel, defined by its swirling patterns and multicoloured finish. Developed from traditional techniques often reserved for the most esteemed Japanese bladesmiths, our blades come alive with a mesmeric display of copper and brass folded through the steel, creating a shimmering ripple reminiscent of flickering flames and burning embers. Beyond its visual allure, Rainbow Damascus Steel possesses exceptional performance.
